THE GREENSBORO TELEGRAM

ESTABLISHED IN 1897. GREENSBORO, N. C., FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 12, 1911. VOL. 14. NO. 244.

CABINET OF PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCED

Special to Telegram.

Juarez, Mexico, May 11.—After a long conference this afternoon of rebel chieftans the appointment was announced of the following named members of the cabinet of the provision government:

Minister of Foreign Affairs, Dr. Vasquez Gomez.

Minister of Finance, Gustavo A. Madero.

Minister of War. Venuistano Caranza.

Minister of Interior, F. Goncales Garza.

Bloody Battle Expected.

Special to Telegram.

Mexico City, May 11.—By courier from Huitzlac, Mexico, May 10.—This village of one thousand souls, descendants of Nahutal Kings, lies on the mountain slope overlooking Cuernavaca and Cortez Palace. Below it is what is destined to be one of the bloodiest battlefields of the Mexican revolution, the plains of Cuernavaca.

From the south is coming Ambrosio Figereo with 8,000 men, while from the southwest, closing in, is La Neri, the Mexican Joan DeArc, with 1,500 more and from the west and east are approaching lesser bands under the leadership of Lucien Merine and Juan Diego. All are bent on attacking and capturing the garrison of 170 men at Cuernavaca.

Every village in the mountains on the road to Mexico City from this place is fortified and every Indian is armed to the teeth, not to fight off the rebels, but to wipe off the earth the hated government officials and blue uniformed troops of the New World Czar.

Ramon Figereo, brother of Ambrosio, is in Curenevaca, fifteen miles below here, rushing from Mexico City in a wild effort to get to his brother with peace arguments ahead of Tomaso Dominguez, who passed through yesterday bearing a plea from the rebel junta in Mexico City to Ambrosio Figereo to continue the war to the bitter end. Tomaso is the brother of Robles Dominguez, whose confession in Mexico City last January sent scores of rebel plotters to rot in the Belem prison. Ramon Figereo says that the conditions in the state of Guerrero where his brother, Ambrosio, is fighting are the same as the general conditions throughout the republic.

"Madero," he said, "can settle the general difficulties and my brother will follow him, but he cannot settle the state matters of Guerroero. Neither can my brother settle the affairs of the nation. But I am afraid that he will not quit until all the demands of Guerrero are settled. I come on a mission of peace, but I fear it will fail completely. My brother is at present at Huitzuco, a few kilometers from Iguala. The garrison of Iguala has announced that it will surrender the possession of the town and all the arms there. Today I go to Puente Iztla by train and thence to Huitzuco. I fear that my arguments will avail nothing. Ambrosio Figereo starts north to Curnavaca with the main body of his army tomorrow. His outposts of two to three thousand men are already fourteen miles from Cuernavaca. After taking Cuernavaca and other nearby villages he will march direct to Mexico City."

Dominguez Sees Figereo.

Huitzuco, Mexico, May 11.—Tomaso Dominguez beat Ramon Figereo to Ambrosio Figereo and returned from the camp of the army of the rebels in Guerrero last night. He says that his arguments convinced Figereo that longer delay was useless and that the latter will not wait until his brother, Ramon, with his peace argument arrives. When Gen. Figereo received the news of the renewed fighting at Juarez he threw up his hands for joy and cried "No matter what Madero does now it is too late. My brother is coming to Cuernavaca from Mexico City. He is even now on his way."

Preparing For U. S. Fleet.

St. Petersburg, May 11.—The naval authorities at Reval are making extensive preparations for the visit of the second division of the United States Atlantic fleet. The battelships will be in that port from June 11 to June 18.

SUPREME COURT DELIVERED FOURTEEN OPINIONS YESTERDAY

Case of Most Interest That of Town of Shelby, Involving Sewerage and Water Supply—Shelby's Contention Sustained by the Court.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, May 11.—There were opinions delivered today in fourteen appeals by the Supreme Court, the delivery having been deferred from yesterday on account of Memorial day observance. The list follows:

Brown vs. Hutchison, Wilkes county; error.

Jenkins vs. Jones, Caldwell; affirmed.

Shell vs. Sullivan & Aiken, Catawba; no error.

Yount vs. Setzer, Catawba; affirmed.

State vs. Baldwin, Catawba; new trial.

Jones vs. Williams, Duplin; new trial.

Steinmetz vs. Kilpatrick, Duplin; appeal withdrawn.

Suderth vs. Southern Railway, Wilkes; affirmed.

Strickland vs. Hayes, Rutherford; appeal dismissed under Rule 30.

Logan vs. Moore. Rutherford, appeal dismissed under Rule 30.

Williams vs. South & Western Railroad, McDowell; appeal dismissed.

The case of most interest in the list o fthose decided is the Town of Shelby vs. Mill & Power Company in which the court, Justice Brown writing the opinion, rules in favor of the contentions of the town of Shelby, in which the water supply of the town was involved. The Mill and Power Company was emptying into French Broad river above Shelby its raw sewerage and Shelby insisted that the company must take care of this sewerage through a disinfecting plant. The Mill & Power Company set up the defense that the company had been enjoying the privilege of disposing of its sewerage as now for twenty-five years and had thereby attained a prescriptive right to this privilege. The Supreme Court denies this right to the company and declares that the preservation of public health as well as public morals is a duty devolving on the State, the discharge of which as denominated an exercise of police power, and it is under such power that such legislation as this is sustained and enforced.

MILITARY UNIFORMS TO GO.

Chicago Police No Longer to Look Like Soldiers.

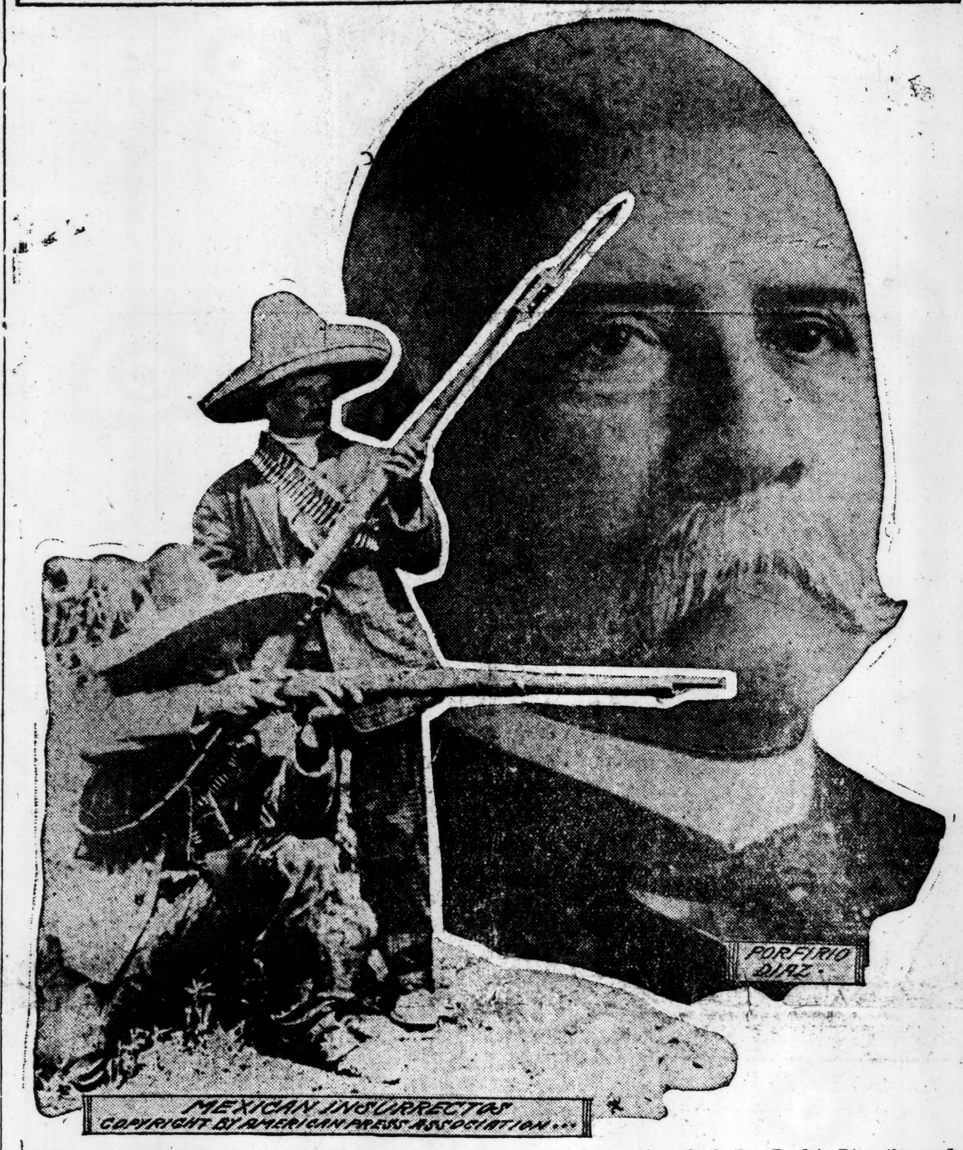
Chicago, May 11.—Superintendent of Police John McWeeny, who has been in office one week, does not believe in making policemen look like soldiers. He issued an order last night which abolishes the military uniforms introduced in the department by former Superintendent Stewart and re-established the old-time uniform that was worn by the members of the department for more than a quarter of a century.

"The police department has been put to a lot of expense to make the men look like soldiers," said McWeeny. "I don't believe in it. I don't think that it is part of the duty of policeman to parade the streets looking like a member of the army or navy. I'm going to take off those shoulder-straps and other military thing-em-a-bobs and put the men back in their old uniforms."

Charged With Trespass.

Saunders Price, of White Oak, was arrested yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff Clark, of White Oak, and Deputy Shaw, the charge being trespass. He will be given a preliminary hearing this morning. Price is also charged with unlawfully living with a woman.

Mexican Insurgents Demand the Resignation Of President Diaz as the Price of Peace.



The solution of the present trouble in Mexico seems to hinge on the question of whether Porfirio Diaz, the aged president of the republic, will relinquish the reins of authority. Francisco I. Madero, Jr., leader of the revolutionists, insists that the uprising must continue until Diaz is superseded. With Diaz out of the presidency peace would be a matter of days, declares Madero. The question of a successor is not regarded as vital so long as Diaz is removed from power. The above picture of President Diaz is the latest and is an excellent likeness. Diaz offers to resign after peace has been established. This proposition may or may not be acceptable to the insurgents.

WILL QUARANTINE AGAINST SMALLPOX

Raleigh and Wake County Authorities Resolve on This Course Despite Fact That Quarantine Law Has Been Repealed.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, May 11.—It is a notable fact that Raleigh and Wake county authorities have determined to maintain quarantine for smallpox in spite of the fact that the State health authorities had the quarantine law for smallpox repealed on the ground that the proper protection is vaccination and that the quarantine is merely an expensive institution for the few who hold out against or neglect vaccination.

A number of cases of smallpox have developed in Raleigh the last week or so. Two children have broken out in the public schools and an insistent demand on the part of the people for the quarantine constrained Mayor Johnson and the county authorities to get together and take steps for the quarantine.

The insistance hereabouts is that there never should have been any repeal of the quarantine law as smallpox patients should not be allowed to move abount among even vaccinated people.

BAD EGG WORTH $3,000.

Man Who Took Up Address for Romance, Inherits Estate.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 1.—Harry Bik found the address of a young lady on an egg shipped from Texas a year ago. Of course the egg was bad, but as it requested the recipient to communicate with the writer, Bilk wrote, hoping to establish a romance with the fair one in the South. Her home was in a small town near Houston and her name was Wacker.

Two weeks ago she died and a letter received by Bilk today stated that she had left him an estate valued at $3,000.

J. A. DONAHOE, COTTON MILL BOSS, SUICIDE IN CHARLOTTE

Charlotte, May 11.—Carbolic acid, self-administered, ended the life of J. A. Donahue at his home, 1114 North Davidson street, this morning between 6 and 7 o'clock.

He was about 33 years old and had for five years been overseer in the card room of the Highland Park Mills. He resigned last week and went to Columbia for a few days. Returning last night about 9 o'clock he was assisted upon a street car by John S. Owens.

After this the suicide was seen upon the streets of the city until about 11 o'clock when he presumably went to his home. From which drug store he bought the poison with which he killed himself is not known.

Walking into the dining room of his home shortly after 6 o'clock this morning he remarked to Mrs. Donahue and his children:

"I am tired of life and have ended it all." They were not prepared for the startling declaration, and did not go to his room for several minutes afterward when they found him writhing in pain. He was then unconscious, the carbolic acid having eaten its way through his intestines. Death resulted before a physician arrived.

As head card man at the Highland Park Mills Mr. Donahue was known all over Charlotte, especially among the cotton mill people. He was a member of the Red Men and had taken an active interest in this order, being known familiarly to all of those who mingle with the Red Faces.

So far as can be ascertained there was no reason for the self-murder. Mr. Donahue was in good circumstances and though he had been drinking for some time no one thought he would resort to such desperate ends.

Besides his two children and wife here he leaves a brother in Greenville and another in Pinners' Point, Va. He had lived in Charlotte for five years, coming here from Greenville.

CHILD LABOR WILL BE CONSIDERED

Raleigh, May 11.—At a meeting of the North Carolina Child Labor Committee tonight it was decided to call a special meeting at Chapel Hill on the day of University commencement week on which Hon. Woodrow Wilson is to speak there, for the purpose of reorganizing the committee.

Prominent cotton mill men will be invited to attend this meeting. Leaders of the movement in this State believe they have plans for progressive child labor legislation that will meet the approval of cotton mill men generally.

J. S. Carr, Jr., a prominent manufacturer of Durham, has accepted a place on the committee and was here for the conference tonight with Editor Clarence H. Poe, of the Progressive Farmer, who is the acting chairman of the committee.

RESERVATIONS MADE FOR BIG ELKS MEET.

Durham, May 11.—Mr. W. G. Bramham has just completed arrangements for reservation at Atlantic City hotels for the North Carolina Elks who will attend the meeting of the Grand lodge at that city in July. It is expected that at least 400 delegates from the different lodges of the state will attend the meeting. About 75 of the members of the Durham lodge will attend and several special Pullman cars will be reserved for the Ourham delegation which will leave here on July 9th.

COUNTRY AND CITIES FIGHT OVER RECIPROCITY MEASURE

Special to Telegram.

Washington, May 11.—The country and the cities were sharply opposed to each other this afternoon at the Canadian Reciprocity hearing before the Senate Finance Committee.

Henry M. Flagg, Master of the Minnesota Grange, who appeared before the committee in opposition to the measure, said that nothing since the "Civil War" had so inflamed the farmers of the Northwest.

P. V. Collins, editor of a farm paper published in the Northwest, was another gentleman who appeared to oppose reciprocity. He presented a protest against the measure signed by 35,000 farmers, 30,000 of whom, he said, lived in Minnesota. He declared that the support of the reciprocity treaty by so large a number of the country's people was based on misinformation. Their failure to clearly grasp the meaning of the measure in all its details was the cause of the support of thousands of citizens, he said.

Members of the boards of trade and commercial bodies of Buffalo and several other cities near the international boundary, were before the committee to advocate the adoption of the reciprocity bill. They gave it hearty endorsement and urged its passage, on the ground that it will benefit the large majority of the people of the United States by lowering the prices of commodities and thereby decreasing the cost of living.

PRELIMINARY WORK OF DRAINING LANDS IN GUILFORD COUNTY

County Surveyor will Soon Begin Work in Reedy Fork and Haw River District---Great Possibilities of Drainage Project.

Within the next few days the county surveyor will begin the preliminary work of surveying the drainage district, embracing Reedy Fork and Haw Rivers, in order that the county commissioners may know exactly how to proceed in carrying out the provisions of the drainage act of the last legislature. These streams have filled with sand and obstructions until they will not carry the water and consequently thousands of acres of Guilford soil, some of the richest in the county, is inundated and marshy.

The law provides that the county shall drain the streams and gives the board of commissioners full power to move any obstructions, such as dams, etc., that may be necessary to properly drain the territory mentioned in the act. To drain the lands adjacent to the two streams is no easy task and the commissioners are confronted with a number of knotty problems in this connection. One is that some of the people owning dams across the streams may object to their being cut so the sand that has accumulated may be washed out. The other is that if the streams have to be ditched out the cost will be so great that the farmers owning the lands drained will not in many instances be able to bear the expense.

If the dam owners will allow their dams to be removed for a certain time the water will, it is believed, carry off the sand and the stream will deepen so as to drain the major portion of the land now under water or too marshy for cultivation. It is not believed however that the owners will agree for their dams to be cut and to remove them against their will would cause damage suits against the county.

The surveyor will in his preliminary survey determine whether or not the fall is sufficient for the draining to be done by the flow of water after obstructions are removed and the cost that would be incurred in this work. The cost of cutting ditches and deepening the stream will also be figured out and the approximate cost placed before the commissioners.

It is believed that enough corn could be grown on lands that are now in untillable condition to supply the entire demand for corn in Guilford county and in addition thousands of tons of hay could be grown. In dollars and cents a complete drainage system would benefit Guilford farmers owning lands in the district hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. In a great many cases it would no doubt press the farmers close to have to pay their part of the cost but in a few years they would be repaid double and treble for the work from the crops raised on the lands drained and made fit for cultivation.

5,000 STARVING IN LABRADOR

Ice-Locked Battle Harbor Has Caused Food Famine.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, May 11.—Information from Battle Harbor, Labrador, that the 5,000 inhabitants of that coast are starving was not wholly surprising to people here.

It has been known for months that a food shortage was threatened and repeated efforts have been made to carry help to them. Vessels laden with supplies endeavored repeatedly to reach the Labrador Coast, but were always forced back by the ice.

Previous to Dr. Grieve's telegram today, there had been no word from Labrador since last fall, when food supplies were reported to be very low.

It is expected that the relief party will be able soon to reach Battle Harbor, as the ice has broken up.

For Methodist Hospital.

Nashville, Tenn., May 11.—A donation of four acres of the old Peabody College campus for a site for the Galloway memorial hospital, the projected Methodist institution, has been accepted by the trustees of the latter. The acceptance carries with it an agreement to utilize the ground as a site. The donation was made by Vanderbilt University, whose medical department will occupy the remainder of the old campus. The new hospital will cost $500,000. Nashville's share, $200,000, will be raised in a whirlwind campaign.

OFFICERS W. H. M. SOCIETY RE-ELECTED.

Raleigh, May 11.—In rounding up its three days annual session with Edenton Street church here the Woman's Home Mission Society of the North Carolina Conference selected Weldon for the next meeting and elected as officers the same ladies who served so effectively the past year: Mrs. R. B. Johns, Fayetteville, president; Mrs. B. N. Mann, Durham, recording secretary; Mrs. N. E. Edgerton, Selma, treasurer; Mrs. Jno. C. Angier, Durham, vice president; Mrs. Ida T. Wilkins, Weldon, superintendent of supplies, Mrs. R. O. Burton, Raleigh, conference editor. There were also elected as first and second vice presidents Mrs. Barrow, of Elizabeth City, and Miss Lillie Duke, Durham, second vice president; Mrs. J. G. Fearing, Elizabeth City, conference corresponding secretary; Mrs. T. W. Costen, of Gates, field secretary, Mrs. Jno. Doub, Jonesboro, superintendent of press work; Mrs. W. H. Speight, Raleigh, fourth vice president. Much time was spent this forenoon by delegates visiting places of interest about the city.

RALEIGH POLICEMAN RESTING UNDER GRAVE CHARGE.

Raleigh, May 11.—On the strength of a charge by Miss Woods, a nineteen-year-old girl of Holly Springs township, this county, that he is guilty of betrayal under promise of marriage and had urged further criminality as a means of extrication, James A. Patrick, member of one of the most respected and substantial families of the county, has just been suspended from the Raleigh police force pending the trial in Justice Bledsoe's court. Patrick has been on the police force for only three months, but the police commissioners say that he had developed into one of the very best men on the force. The girl has a bundle of letters from Patrick substantiating her charges and showing that they have been engaged for the past two years, their estrangement having developed within the past few weeks. Able counsel is engaged on both sides for the trial. Patrick was held in custody several hours in the city prison until his mother, Mrs. Mary R. Harrell, and his stepfather, H. P. Harrell, arrived and gave the required $1,000 bond. The case will be tried Friday afternoon.

Greensboro needs more industries and is going to get 'em.

The industries of Greensboro are going and growing—and there is room for more.

Strange as it may appear, the paragraphers all overlooked the appropriateness of holding a peace conference in the quiet, peaceful city of Baltimore.

The excavators at Jerusalem found Solomon's crown, it is said. The sequel of the story may show whether they displayed the wisdom of Solomon in getting away with it.

That report of the discovery of a gold mine in the heart of Atlanta, if sifted to the facts in the case, will probably disclose that the Atlantans have started a plant for the manufacture of gold bricks.

The advantages of Greensboro as a manufacturing center are worth the consideration of any person looking for a location for an industry. Greensboro needs more industries and will welcome new ones.

Are you reading the stories of industrial progress in this city told under the caption, The Going, Growing Industries of Greater Greensboro? They are worth reading, as they show what is being accomplished here in various lines of manufacturing.

The down-to-date people of the country find it necessary nowadays to stay just a little ahead of the calendar. Consequently, they have already started the campaign for a safe and sane Fourth of July this year.

Twenty-three Republican Congressmen voted for the adoption of the Free List bill. Whether the number is significant or not, these gentlemen will have to hie away from the Republican ranks if they expect to line up with genuine tariff reformers.

Columbia State says that "The principal objection to baseball is that it doesn't seem to thrive in Charleston." That is not really to the discredit of baseball, however, and it is not an objection. The reason baseball does not thrive in Charleston is because Charleston is a croquet town. The objection, on the part of the remainder of the country, is to Charleston and not baseball.

Congressman Mann, Republican leader of the House, is a typical standpatter. He pretended to want the Free List bill amended by the addition of free iron, steel, hemp, fruits, chemicals and numerous other articles, but when challenged to say that he would vote for the bill with these amendments he admitted that he would not. Congressman Mann was simply trying to play the rottenest sort of politics. In other words, he is a trickster of the old standpat school of reactionaries. His scheme to defeat the Free List bill failed, and his attempt to muddy the water simply added to his unsavory reputation.

NORTH CAROLINA'S FIRST AUTOMOBILE CONTEST.

The Greensboro Chamber of Commerce automobile contest, or reliability tour of two hundred miles, is exciting great interest along the route of the proposed trip. The mayors of Roxboro Oxford and Henderson, are manifesting especial interest in the tour and will co-operate with the Greensboro people in making it a success. The people of these towns are evidently interested in the proposed railroad from this city to Roxboro and are ready to further the movement for the construction of the road. All indications at present point to a pleasant trip for the automobilists, provided the weather is favorable; and it is believed that the enthusiasm aroused among people along the route, as well as among the people of Greensboro, by the trip will get the railroad building movement well under way.

The Chamber of Commerce has issued rules and regulations for the contest, which may be obtained from the Secretary of this body. All the details of the tour are explained in a folder which has been printed.

THE NEW DISPENSATION OF HONESTY IN PUBLIC LIFE.

In the record of the extra session of Congress and the trend of events political the New York World sees the dawning of a new dispensation in which the public servants of the people will actually represent the principles and policies of the majority and in which there will be more or less independence of party lines and, especially, disregard of the wishes of party bosses. The World says:

"No less impressive than Democratic singleness of purpose at Washington is the fact that every important act of the House of Representatives has had the vigorous support of Republicans. In the temper of the people, in the character of Congress and in the occasion, everything has been favorable to nonpartisan public service.

"The President himself has felt the impulse and he is more courgeous for it. Many years have elapsed since a delegation of tax-devourers has been talked to at the White House in the tone held by Mr. Taft toward the handful of political farmers who menaced him for his support of reciprocity. Independence begets independence in the Executive as well as in the Legislature and nothing but good can come to the country as a result of it.

"The new House of Representatives contains 226 Democrats, 165 Republicans and one Socialist. On the 13th of April the resolution for the election of Senators by direct vote passed 296 to 16, the opposition being made up of fifteen Republicans and one Democrat. On the 14th of April the bill providing for publicity of campaign receipts and expenditures passed 303 to 0. On the 21st of April the Canadian reciprocity agreement was adopted 266 to 89. In the affirmative were sixty-four Republicans and in the negative eleven Democrats. Now the first of the free-list bills has passed 236 to 109, with twenty-three Republicans boldly co-operating with the majority. We shall see the same thing soon in the Senate.

"Every one of these measures has had popular approval, some of them for years. Directly or indirectly they have been promised in platforms and by the solemn avowals of candidates. But savagely partisan Congresses controlled by a system of obstruction devised by plutocracy and privilege have prevented final action. What was impossible last winter is this spring almost a matter of course, largely because of the faithfulness of Democrats but in part because they have freed the Republicans from a tyranny that had become intolerable even to themselves.

"It is going to be a difficult thing for the has-beens of the old Cannon-Aldrich combination to make political capital out of reforms that have had popular sanction, that have been supported by both parties in Congress and that soon, we believe, will bear the signature of a Republican President. Here is a combination that is acceptable. No clique of cabal operating in behalf of private interests can prevail against it."

KEEPING PEACE AT HOME

(By FRANCES WILEY.)

When a young man and a girl marry, the relatives of the pair should consider that their right to domineer over them has ceased, and that they have no excuse for interferring in the affairs of the wedded pair unless their help is sought.

A mother will often sow the seeds of discontent in a home by laying down to her daughter the rules of conduct to which she considers her son-in-law ought to conform. No woman ought to be so thoughtless, for the young wife will perhaps repeat the words to her husband, with the result that he may be very angry. It is such thoughtlessness that brings about quarrels between families and that stirs up strife between husband and wife.

The husband's mother is often in many cases quite as great an offender as the wife's mother. In her belief, no girl can be good enough for her son, and she will enter the new home and point out to her daughter-in-law the likes and dislikes of her boy until she manages to convey the impression that he is the only one in the house to be considered, and even this, that his wife is determined to neglect and treat him badly. She does not mean to make mischief, but she certainly does so.

Gratuitous service of this sort is never of use to a wife. She does not want to be told that her husband likes his beef well cooked, or two lumps of sugar in his tea. The little joys of her life lie in finding these things out for herself, while, on his part, nothing is sweeter to the husband than to discover that his wife notices his peculiarities and respects them.

It is not suggested that no couple can be happy with their relatives; some families—and, indeed, many—get on splendidly together after marriage. These are the people who wish to bring about each other's happiness, look on at each other's affairs, but never speak until they know their opinions are wanted. A married couple who agree well with their respective relations are much happier than those who have none, or who have to keep away from them. So it is well worth everyone's while to keep the peace and be contented with making the best of life.

FADS OF THE FASHIONS

The touch of black which has been so popular throughout the winter is seen again in the lingerie frocks.

Deep borders of hemstitch of black chiffon, or the yoke and lower part of the sleeves of this material, are some of the novel forms this touch takes.

Then there are underveilings of chifton, that is, a slip of black is worn under the lingerie dress and over its white satin foundation. On the other hand, frequently the dress and the underveiling is black.

As a further touch, white lingerie dresses are often trimmed with banding of black chiffon, embroidered in white venetian stitch.

The beauty of these new black and white costumes lies in the transparency of the black, so that it seems not so much a trimming as a shadow.

Something new in neckwear is the soft silk collar, with four-in-hand tie to match. The beauty of this new style is that the collar is soft to the neck, as well as high and stylish. It is finished with a button and buttonhole and requires no pinning.

Sense in Short Sentences

A man always fancies that the best way to win in an argument with a woman is to kiss her and tell her how pretty she looks—and it usually is.

Man's infinite variety consists entirely in the variety of his faults. If all men were perfect the world would be terribly monotonous.

Nothing makes a man feel so injured as to have his wife keep perfectly silent about something that he fully expected to be scolded about.

Always put off tonight what you are going to put on in the morning.

Everything has been said over and over again, but it's the way it is said that counts.

A friend is someone who can tell you unpleasant truths about yourself—but won't.

In a nation of grafters, the best grafter is the most respectable.

People whose main interest is in money, find it most impossible to comprehend that other people are interested in anything else.

Advertising Talks

H. G. B.

THE PORTLAND OREGONIAN IN A RECENT ISSUE, quotes from a speech made by Mr. W. F. Lipman, of the firm of Lipman, Wolfe & Co., a large mercantile concern of Portland, as follows:

"Today, 90 per cent. of the advertising is accomplished through newspapers. It is the most successful and only correct medium when results are ot be obtained. Today, no matter what the busiuess, the first questian to be determined is the advertising. Second comes the medium and it is of the medium which I wish to talk. Marshal Field, I believe, was said to have laid down the rule: First show me that the paper is the paper of the home and I will take up the question of the size of my advertising. In other words, Mr. Field held to the theory that the newspaper must be a home paper, and to be a home paper you must first print the news that is fit to print. He always said that he never cared to advertise in a paper whose circulation was on the streets and in the by-ways. 'Fake' advertising even in the papers of the home in the end will bring failure."

MR. LIPMAN'S OPINION IS THE OPINION of the large majority of the successful advertisers, and consequently the successful business men throughout the country. All advertising perhaps has some value. Newspaper advertising is the great result getter.

THE PAPER THAT GOES HOME IN GREENSBORO IS THE GREENSBORO TELEGRAM. The Telegram prints all the news that is fit to read while the bloom is on it. It declines whiskey, beer and objectionable medicine advertisements. The Telegram is the best advertising medium in Greensboro.

WARNING TO RAILROAD MEN.

E. S. Bacon, 11 Bast St., Bath, Me., sends out this warning to railroad men: "As conductor on the railroad, my work caused a chronic inflamation of the kidneys, and I was miserable and all played out. A friend advised Foley Kidney Pills and from the day I commenced taking them, I began to regain my strength. The inflammation cleared and I am far better than I have been for twenty years. The weakness and dizzy spells are a thing of the past and I highly recommend Foley Kidney Pills."

When a girl gets engaged to a man she is merely sparring for time in which to make up her mind whether she wants to marry him or not.

Saved Child From Death.

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, lagrippe, asthma, croup and sore lungs, its the most infalliable remedy that's made. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

Foley's Kidney Remedy Acted Quickly.

M. N. George, Irondale, Ala., was bothered with kidney trouble for many years. "I was persuaded to try Foley Kidney Remedy, and before taking it three days I could feel its beneficial effects. The pain left my back, my kidney action cleared up, and I am so much better I do not hesitate to recommend Foley Kidney Remedy." For Sale by Howard Gardner.

A Spring Suggestion by a Trained Druggist.

Appendicitis and many other ills come from Constipation and over-loading with food which the system cannot care for. The bowels must be cleared and antiseptic ised to give their normal functions and this should not be done by strong Cathartics, as every physician will tell you. Vick's Little Liver Pills have been the bowels and mild stimulation to the lazy liver and thus cure trouble in adults and children.

Poor old Adam! There were no tonsorial artists or safety razors in his day.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy only. 50c at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE POWER OF STEAM.

Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight."

There was.

Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.

INTERVENTION IN MEXICO COSTLY

Officials Say It Would Mean Army of 250,000 Men.

SUCH ACTION IS POSSIBLE.

President Taft Will Avoid This Course if He Can—Speculation as to What Roosevelt Would Have Done—Congressman Martin of Illinois Makes First Call on Hitchcock.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 11.—(Special.)—It has been estimated by the government officials that intervention in Mexico will mean an army of 250,000 men, and there is a belief that the country will seriously object to an army of that size. No one can foresee the end if there should be such intervention.

The president is aware that it will mean long and continued warfare with guerrilla bands and that it will be very difficult to establish a stable government under present conditions. The dictatorship of Diaz, the governing of a people with an iron hand, has created a condition which makes the establishment of a good government difficult.

While the president has the troops ready for intervention he does not want to take the important step unless it is absolutely necessary.

What Might Have Been.

People are wondering what Roosevelt would have done and would do in a similar position to that which President Taft finds himself in regard to Mexico. Many people think we would have been at war with some of the Mexicans long ago. It is recalled that when Colombia was protesting so violently against having Panama taken from that country there was a report that Colombian troops were moving toward the isthmus overland. Roosevelt gave orders for a brigade of troops to be at once sent to Panama to meet the Colombian forces. The order was not put in execution because Root and Moody, then members of his cabinet, objected.

An officer was sent to make an investigation as to whether the isthmus could be approached overland from the south, and his report was that such a movement was impossible. Then the brigade order was revoked.

A Remarkable Record.

Congressman Martin B. Madden of Chicago was strolling toward the postoffice department, and I asked him where he was bound. He told me he was going to the postoffice department.

"It is the first time I have ever been in the department," was the remarkable statement of the Illinois congressman. He has served six years in the house and is entering upon his fourth term. Then he went on with a still more remarkable statement: "I have never asked for an appointment for any one or had any federal patronage of any kind. I have seen Postmaster General Hitchcock but once, and that was on a trip down the Mississippi river, when we were examining the river, and President Taft introduced us."

The visit of Congressman Madden had peculiar interest because it was undertaken at the request of two Sisters of Charity who had been refused the use of the mails in raffling an automobile, the proceeds of which were to be devoted to charity. Of course it was impossible to get the ruling reversed, and the congressman knew it before he introduced the women at the department.

Pomerene Makes a Discovery.

"It looks to me as if these people are trying to get all they can in the matter of tariff," remarked Senator Pomerene at the close of a hearing in the finance committee room. The Ohio senator is not the first legislator who has made that discovery. The people who come to Washington to protest against changes of schedules are not usually here for the interest of the great public. They are looking after their own affairs.

Where He Learned to Fight.

Senator Nelson of Minnesota went through many hardships as a youngster. He was but a wee child when his parents brought him from Norway to this country, and in the early days in Wisconsin foreigners of any kind were not considered up to the standard of American born citizens.

"D—n little Norwegian," was an epithet of reproach cast upon little Nelson at school. "I used to fight every boy that called me that, big or little," remarked the Minnesota senator, "and I was in a fight most of the time when not in school."

In later days Nelson has been called the "little Norwegian giant," and no one ever heard him kick at that. It has been a good political slogan in times past.

Carter In Good Humor.

Congressman Carter of Oklahoma says in his biography that he is mixed Chickasaw and Cherokee; but, although he shows his Indian blood, he has nothing of the stoical and self contained characteristics of the aborigine. He seems to find a lot of fun in the house, and his face is generally wreathed in smiles like a man who is well satisfied with himself and surroundings in spite of the fact that he spends more time than any one else listening to the tariff debates.

MOVEMENT BACK TO SOUTH STIRS OPPOSITION IN WEST

Special to Telegram.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 11.—President J. P. Winn of the "Back Home" Movement Association is today sending invitations to all chambers of commerce and other business organizations in the States east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers to meet in conference at the Read House in this city on May 17th. The railroads of the territory are also invited to send representatives. It is generally known throughout the South that the object of the "Back Home" movement is to check the outflow of people to the West by stimulating a return movement of Southerners to their home States. That the movement is of great importance to the South is shown by advices from Southerners in the West to the effect that the Western railroads are doing everything possible to forestall it. A letter from a Southern man now in Seattle to Secretary W. D. Roberts, of Johnson City, Tenn., says: "The Back Home" movement is very unpopular with the railroads and land 'sharks' here in the West, but by all means keep it going."

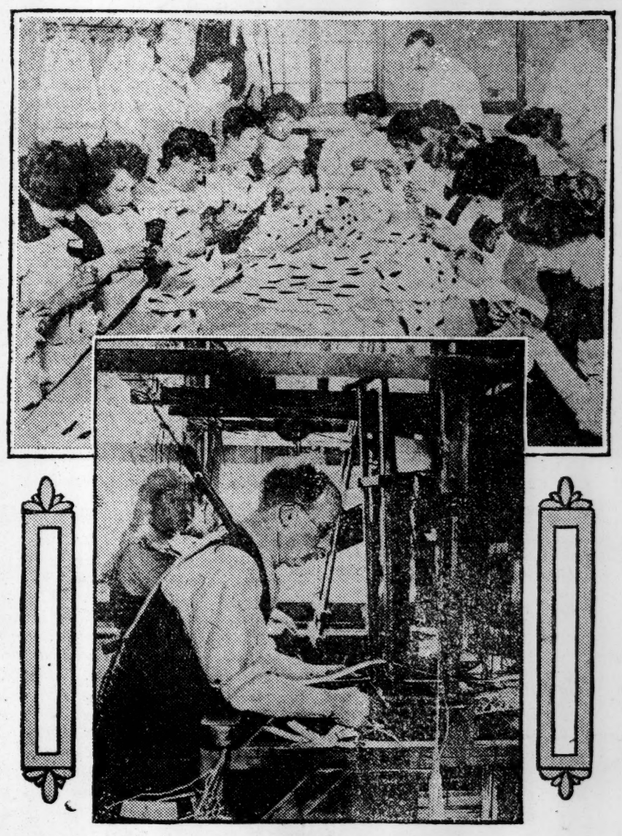
Gold Lace and Ermine Being Prepared For Coronation Robes



Photos by American Press Association, 1911.

REAL gold threads were used in weaving the lace for King George's coronation robe. The process was quite slow, ten inches of the lace being the average daily output of a skilled weaver. Preparations for the coronation were begun many months ago, and the weaving of the gold lace and the sewing of the ermine, both of which tasks are shown in the pictures above, were only a small portion of the work that was done. Historic old Westminster abbey was materially changed, additional seats and galleries being constructed, and an addition was built to accommodate those entitled by official rank to view the ceremony. England does not have a coronation very often, and when the chance does come for lavish display it is not allowed to pass unnoticed.

Japanese Host—Then you think the United States is ready for war?

ARRESTED AT THE ALTAR.

Baltimore, May 11.—Detectives Bradley, of this city, and George Pratt, of Washington, arrested Dr. Franklin B. Morse, a chemist and promoter, of San Francisco, as he was about to be married here tonight to Miss Alice O'Neill, daughter of J. J. O'Neill. The charge against the doctor was obtaining money under false pretenses and the arrest was made at the home of the bride-elect when the minister was about to begin the ceremony.

When the officers announced their mission Miss O'Neill fainted, falling to the floor. She soon recovered, and the minister urged her to permit him to continue the ceremony, but she declined, stated that until Dr. Morse proved his innonce she would withhold her consent. The accused then was taken to the police station.

Dr. Morse was arrested on a warrant sworn out for him in Washington at the instigation of William N. Moore, of that city, who charged him with procuring $160 from him by means of false pretenses. He also is wanted in this city to answer to a civil suit for alleged breach of contract brought against him by Miss Jane Forien. According to Miss Forien, the plan of Dr. Morse is quite unique. He is the sole proprietor of a combination liquor known as the "radium spray." He is the inventor of the formula of which this spray is composed, and sells it with privileges of working in certain districts at prices ranging from $100 to $300. With the sale he signs a contract with the purchaser which prohibits himself from selling in those districts. It is alleged that the doctor has violated this contract and sold of his own accord.

"Every time the baby looks into my face he smiles," said Mr. Meekins.

"Well," answered his wife, "it may not be exactly polite, but it shows he has a sense of humor."

The nicest women often become slaves to the sort of men that other men long to thrash.

Mabel: "You will not want, perhaps, anything more to do with me if I own to you I have already been engaged ten times."

Marmaduke: "Have you given back to your lovers all the presents which they made you?"

Mabel: "Not a single one."

Marmaduke: "Then, my dear, I forgive you."

POWER

In Senate Passed From Regulars to Progressives After Bitter Contest Yesterday

Special to Telegram.

Washington, May 11.—The remnants of the Old Guard in the Senate went down in defeat this afternoon and the balance of the power passed to the progressives, numbering the fatal thirteen in strength.

The control of the Senate passed from the regulars in a notable conflict continuing for two hours and was attended by much bitterness. The future of the great party and the election of the next president may depend in a large measure upon the outcome of the feuds and animosities given root this afternoon.

The result of the contest is that the Senate remains deadlocked over the election of a president pro tem as a successor to William P. Frye, of Maine, recently resigned. This situation may continue unchanged until the advent of another congress. It may be solved, however, by the election of a Democrat as the presiding officer. The solution of the problem lives entirely with the progressives.

ILLNESS

Special to Telegram.

London, May 11.—The dark shadow cast by the grave condition of Queen Alexandria hangs over the Coronation season, which opened officially this week. The utmost endeavor has been made to keep the matter a secret and no word has leaked out through the newspapers. However, the fact that the Queen Mother's life has been in danger for some time past is now an open secret at Court and rumors concerning her majesty's health have percolated down to the shopkeepers with the result that droves of British patriots are rushing in a state of panic to Lloyds to obtain insurance against financial loss that would ensue should Queen Alexandria's death make necessary a postponement of the coronation.

So serious has this panic become that it is not at all improbable that an official denial of the rumors concerning Queen Alexandria will be issued in the hope of allaying public fear, but it will take something more than an official denial to explain the rates now demanded at Lloyds for insurance of this character. Ten guineas per cent. for three months insurance on Alexandria's life is the present ruling. Although the coronation is only six weeks off ten guineas per cent. is also quoted as the rate against the postponement of that event. Two months ago the rate was only two guineas per cent. Many conservative underwriters are now refusing to accept any further risks.

DAILY MARKET REPORTS

WEATHER FORECAST.

Louisana — Unsettled, showers in North, Friday, colder in Northwest and in interior.

Arkansas—Unsettled showers, colder in East.

Oklahoma—Fair and colder, except in Northwest.

East Texas—Unsettled showers in interior, colder in interior.

Alabama, Mississippi— Fair, increasing cloudiness.

RAINFALL IN TEXAS.

New Orleans, May 11.—Official statement of the Texas Government weather bureau shows a rainfall average for April of 4.88 inches, which is 1.80 more than the April average.

Cotton Conditions in Mississippi.

Meridian, Miss., May 11.—Considerable re-planting is being done through this territory as a result of recent low temperatures and heavy rains. Oil mill men said yesterday they had a general call for seed and had shipped a car and a half to Macon, Miss., for re-planting. Farmers say that practically all early cotton will have to be plowed up and planted over as stands have been badly impaired.

COTTON LETTER TO J. E. LATHAM.

New Orleans, La., May 11.—Liverpool was again much better than due on new crops and the difference between the markets is now quite full, ninety points, showing that the trade is willing to buy. Old crops in Liverpool are steady, spot prices 3 off, sales 8,000. The weather map showed fair and warmer over night in the central and Eastern States. Cloudy in Texas with light rains in North Texas, rather low temperatures outside of the Western border of Texas. Indications are for cloudy, showery weather in the Southern half of Texas and in the Central States, colder in the Northwestern quarter. The map, however, shows critical possibilities of either extensive rain developments coming from the West or of the cold spreading over the belt. Indications today are too indefinite to give a positive opinion as to what change there will be in the next two days. Fair, warm weather is indicated for the Eastern States and parties inspecting the crop in Eastern Alabama and Georgia give very bright account of early planted cotton. While the movement of statistics for the week tomorrow will be bullish, particularly the loss in stock, it is thought that mill takings will not vary much from the 168,000 that they were last year.

The C. J. Jeffress Co., Canton, Haywood county, capital $5,000, by C. J. Jeffress, C. N. Justice and E. B. Jeffress for mercantile business.

The Imperial Clothing Co., Winston-Salem, capital $50,000 by C. M. Phelps, Geo. W. Norman and others for general clothing business.

The Shelby Machine and Supply Co., Shelby, amends its charter so that the principal office is changed from Shelby to Wendell, Wake county.

Preparations are being made for the observance of Federal Memorial Day here May 30. R. N. Simms, prominent young attorney of this city, has been invited to deliver the address. The local military company, Company B, Third regiment, is to take part in the military demonstration. The company received an invitation about 9 o'clock on the morning of May 10 to participate with the band in the Confederate Memorial services, but it was too late for the men to be gotten together. It had been reported that they would not be invited because they took part in the Federal Memorial services a year ago.

State Commissioner of Insurance James R. Young says reports of fires starting from "rats and matches" are coming in to him with a degree of frequency that makes some precaution against these sources of fires an imperative necessity. He says, too, that the logical remedy for this is for the people to use only the safety matches that rats cannot cut fire from and that cannot give rise to fires from careless use by persons, another prolific source of fires. There was a bill in the last Legislature to prohibit the sale of any but safety matches in this state but it failed to pass.

"Clean-up days" are receiving a hearty endorsement from the state department of insurance as they are being observed in many towns of the state. The commissioner insists that besides bringing about an air of cleanliness there is the further elimination of a vast deal of plunder in which fires easily start and that clearing this away in connection with the general cleaning up helps to make less frequent fires that destroy valuable property and keep up fire losses and consequently fire insurance rates.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction J. Y. Joyner has gone to Courtney High School, Yadkin county, for an address in connection with the closing of the schools there. L. C. Brogden, of the department of education, has gone to Johnston county to spend the remainder of the week in campaign work for local taxation for the improvement of schools. C. H. Mebane, of the department, is in Wilkes county to deliver educational addresses in connection with the closing of a number of schools.

CAESAR'S HEAD.

From Greenville, S. C., Piedmont.

The erroneous report sent out by an Asheville, N. C., correspondent to the effect that Caesar's Head had fallen has caused much comment about that most picturesque spot. Numerous articles have been written in the various papers of the country about the place.

One of the most interesting communications about the head, however, appeared in The Richmond Times-Dispatch, of yesterday and was signed "M. M. D." This dealt with the Caesar's Head of the fifties. The article follows:

"I read a few days since in your paper (of which I am a daily reader) a statement with reference to the sloughing off of Caesar's Head. I was much interested in the report, but have seen nothing since to confirm it, and I sincerely hope it is not true.

"I am a South Carolinian, having been reared at Greenville, which is only about twenty miles from Caesar's Head. I have always thought that this mountain was in South Carolina, and belonged to a man named James Haygood. When attending the grammar school of Dr. Pierce, in the fifties, the principal used to take us to the mountains for two weeks every summer. On one of these occasions we climbed the Rabun Gap Turnpike to Mountain Top, a famous summer hostelry kept by Micajah Thomas. Here the scenery was grand, sublime—nothing but mountain tops spread one upon another, piled like Pelion upon Ossa, with not a rift in the view which offered egress. From this point we went, some five miles away, to Caesar's Head, where there burst upon us, like the flash of a magic lantern, an illimitable view of valley, stream, mountain and forest. The towns of Spartanburg and Greenville were in view to the naked eye, and looking to the southwest, we could see Stone Mountain, in Georgia, and perhaps, if we had had glasses strong enough we might have seen Atlanta, which was then but a struggling village a few miles from Stone Mountain. Coming up the mountain from the east side, the profile of the face of the old Roman was very striking; but coming from the west there was nothing to be seen until the whole panorama burst upon one, almost dazzling him with surprise and pleasure.

"While there (this was sixty years ago) we noticed the face or forehead of Old Caesar had been inscribed with the names of the hundreds of visitors who had stood upon his brow. Being likewise ambitious for notoriety, the writer determined to outdo all previous attempts in this direction. So fastening a rope securely about my waist and tying the other end to a tree, with two or three companions holding on and paying out as I advanced, I crawled to the extreme verge of the precipice, and there, with my eyes gazing into the thousands of feet of space below, cut my initials deep into the emperor's forehead, and was drawn back by my schoolfellows to safety.

"While upon the mountain a terrific thunder storm came up one evening just about supper time, and though we had tents, were compelled to take refuge in the hotel. The awful grandeur of this storm, with its terrific thunder and vivid lightning, which seemed not above us, but below and amongst us, will never be effaced from my memory.

"If Caesar's Head has fallen there has been removed the most picturesque spot in the Blue Ridge, and I have seen it from Pennsylvania to Alabama. I hope it is not true."

Doings of the City Commission

At yesterday afternoon's session of the Board of Commissioners the written oaths of the commisisoners were subscribed to and ordered recorded in a book of oaths. City Clerk Michaux, City Attorney Cooke, and the police officers also subscribed to their oaths and these were ordered recorded.

A letter was received from a member of the fire department asking whether or not the Johnny Jones Carnival Company would be allowed to come here and give a benefit performance for the firemen some time during the summer or fall, also what the license tax would be if the benefit performance was not allowed. As the license taxes for the year have not yet been fixed no action was taken regarding the matter.

The commissioners also discussed the office arrangement and it was decided that it would be best for Mayor Murphy to occupy the office now used by Commissioner Foushee and Commissioners Foushee and Brown to occupy the new offices being fitted up in the South end of the building. The question of having a clerk of the Municipal court, in order that City Clerk Michaux can devote more time to the bookkeeping of the city was also discussed. Attorney Cooke was instructed to examine the act creating the court and advise the board regarding the securing of a new clerk.

Battle Ground Road Will be Improved

County Commissioners Boren and Tucker spent yesterday exploring the bottoms of Reedy Fork for sand to be used in sand-claying the road across the Battle Ground in case the county decides to comply with the request of the Battle Ground Company and improve the road. They found plenty of sand. While no definite action has been taken regarding the matter it is quite likely that the road will be coated with sand-clay in the near future. The work cannot be done before the annual celebration in July, however, but it will be in first class shape for the celebration in 1912, at which time the Greene monument will no doubt be unveiled.

T. R. TO HUNT POLAR BEAR.

Will Make Trip to Frozen North In 1912 With Captain Bartlett.

New York, May 11.—According to Capt. "Bob" Bartlett, big game hunting has more attraction for Theodore Roosevelt than the Presidential campaign. At least, that's the way the Colonel sees it now. Having filled his bag with tropical fauna, the Colonel plans in the summer of 1912 to try his luck at Polar bears in Greenland.

Captain "Bob," who commanded Peary's ship the Roosevelt on her last and successful trip, has the Colonel's acceptance pledged. The Captain wanted the Colonel to go along this year, but the Colonel was too busy. "Next year," said the Colonel, and Captain "Bob" believes he is sure of his man. "He'll come," said the Captain this afternoon, "you can take my word for it."

METHODISTS OF CHARLOTTE WILL RAISE FUNDS FOR CHILDREN'S HOME

Charlotte, May 11.—That Charlotte Methodists will undertake the collection of funds and the erection of the main building of the Children's Home at Winston-Salem is assured. That the undertaking will be successful is equally certain. Charlotte Methodists and other local friends of the orphanage have already contributed $5,000 to the orphanage and this will be included in the $15,000 that represents the cost of the main building, leaving a balance of $10,000.

There was one mind at the point meeting of the official boards of the Methodist churches of the city at Tryon Street church last night. Aomng those present at the meeting in addition to the several pastors of the city and the lay members of the several boards, were Rev. Dr. J. R. Scroggs, presiding elder of the Charlotte district; Rev. Dr. T. F. Marr, chairman of the board of trustees, and presiding elder of the Winston-Salem district, Prof. H. A. Hayes, superintendent of the orphanage. Dr. Scroggs presided at the meeting and Rev. G. T. Rowe was secretary.

Dr. Marr presented the matter to the meeting and was followed by Prof. Hayes. There was a considerable discussion of the new institution, its needs, its plans and its prospects and no one was present but was vitally interested in the work. Following the discussion it was decided to appoint a central committee which shall have charge of the plans for a campaign to raise the $10,000. This committee will be composed of the pastors and three members of the official boards of the eight Methodist churches of the city. Mr. B. D. Heath was eleeted chairman of this committee and Rev. G. T. Rowe was made secretary. A meeting will be held Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Tryon Street church at which some definite course o faction will be discussed and outlined probably.

Little trouble is anticipated in raising the required sum here. The Charlotte Methodists are vitally interested in the development of the model children's home that has been planned and started at Winston-Salem, and as the largest city and the strongest Methodist city in the State, little else could be expected. There are eight Methodist churches here with a tremendous membership and an active and aggressive campaign for funds will produce great results.

PRESIDENT FINLEY OF SOUTHERN ON BUSINESS CONDITIONS OF SOUTH

Finds Agricultural Outlook Favorable---Industrial Conditions Expected to Improve---Plans for Improvement of Southern.

Washington, D. C., May 11.—President W. W. Finley, of the Southern Railway Company, who has recently returned from an inspection trip on which he was accompanied by members of the board of directors, in speaking today of business conditions in the Southeastern States, said:

"The agricultural outlook throughout the entire Southeastern section seems to be very favorable. While in some localities in the southwestern part of the territory rains have somewhat retarded cotton planting, and while re-planting will be necessary in some small areas, it will have to be done to a very much smaller extent than was necessary last year. Notwithstanding the increased attention being given by Southern farmers to corn and other crops, the aggregate acreage devoted to cotton will be somewhat greater this year than last. The average preparation of the soil for planting this year has been unusually good. Farmers are using fertilizers more scientifically and better farming is being practiced very generally throughout the South, which may be expected to result in an increase in the average yield per acre. As a result of their prosperous season in 1910, Southern farmers, to a larger extent than usual, are able to finance this year's operations themselves without the assistance of local merchants and banks.

"Conditions in the cotton manufacturing industry are not wholly favorable, but the season progresses, more definite ideas as to the size of this year's cotton crop should bring about a more favorable relative adjustment of the prices of the raw material and the finished products of the mills. The lumber business is still feeling the effects of restricted purchases on the part of the railways, but a slight improvement is noticeable in some of the lumber producing localities. The condition of the iron and steel industry in the South is substantially the same as in other parts of the country. With underlying financial and agricultural conditions favorable and with a fair business in some industrial lines and some prospect for improvement in other lines, there is a reasonable basis for the expectation of an active business as the season progresses.

"The management of the Southern Railway Company is not unmindful of the requirements placed upon it by the increasing volume of traffic throughout its territory. It is, therefore, continuing its policy of improving its facilities for the development of business and for the movement of traffic. It has recently taken steps to add substantially to its motive power for passenger and freight trains and to its passenger train equipment. Its carrying capacity is comfortably ahead of its present requirements. Looking forward to the progressive development of its territory, the carrying capacity of those parts of its lines where the traffic is not sufficiently heavy to require double tracking is being increased by the construction of a modern system of lap-sidings and these lap-sidings are being so constructed that, if business shall become sufficiently heavy for double-track lines, they can be used in a double-track system. In all of these matters the company is being governed by practical, and not academic, considerations, and, in pursuance of this policy, the management now contemplates increasing its main-line double-trackage at a point where the volume of traffic is heavy, and expects to be able to keep fully abreast of traffic requirements without going beyond or straining its present financial resources."

DRUM FISH OYSTER HUNGRY.

Menhaden Men Authorized to Destroy Voracious Hordes.

Trenton, May 11.—Black drum fish have been raising such havoc with the famous oyster beds in Tuckerton and Little Egg Harbor Bays that the State Fish and Game Commission decided today to permit a menhaden fishery company to make the experiment of going after the marauders by the use of nets. The menhaden company wanted to dynamite the bay then to collect the dead drum fish for use as fertilizers, but the Commission decided that this would work a too great destruction among other and more valuable fish. The use of dynamite was tried some years ago, and, although it destroyed thousands of drum fish, the number was not appreciably lessened. The black drumfish is one of the worst enemies of the oyster in places which it frequents. It travels in large schools and is to be distinguished from its namesake, the red drum, which furnishes sport for anglers along the Atlantic coast. The black drum is neither a game nor a food fish, its only uses seemingly being to eat oysters and act as a general scavenger. The Commission believes that such a course is necessary if the oyster beds are to be protected for the future.

CAN EASTERNERS STOP TIGERS?

Unless They Do American League Race Will Become Procession.

DETROIT STRONGER THAN EVER

By TOMMY CLARK.

Can the eastern teams stop the Detroit Tigers, give them a setback and otherwise cause them to lose their man eating ways? This question is now being asked by the baseball fans. The wonderful showing of the club and the fact that they entered the month of May with the longest lead in baseball history have almost caused the black hairs on the heads of Hal Chase and Connie Mack to turn white.

Never in the history of the game has a team started off so well. If it were a weak team the other managers would have little to worry about. But Detroit is a different proposition. Jennings has a club this season hard to beat under any turn, and with a big lead the job is simply that much harder.

Last year the Detroits were the victims of the worst kind of hard luck; otherwise they would have been factors to a finish. This season everything seems to be breaking their way. And in addition the team has been greatly strengthened since the close of 1910. A big hole has been filled up at first base, and the twirling staff is the best Jennings has ever had. In fact, the club is fully 30 per cent stronger than last year.

Here is another point: Detroit has still a long list of games to play at home. If the eastern teams fail to stop the Tigers within the next few weeks Jennings and his band of pill eaters will have a lead that will be well nigh invincible. From then on the American league race will become a procession instead of a fight.

Although the season is still young, the Detroit club has come pretty near putting the entire western section on the blink by the most sustained rush ever shown by any team. It will be very interesting to watch the work of the eastern teams when they tackle Detroit. It's up to them to overhaul them, provided they are going to be overhauled.

Poor twirling helped in keeping the Tigers from being closer up last season. Jennings recently complained that he had too many good young twirlers. It's a complaint that is positively unique in the annals of baseball. It's an affliction which many other clubs in the league would welcome with becoming avidity. This is in striking contrast to the condition of affairs for the previous two years.

Always a great batting and base running club, it seems to have improved over previous seasons. Crawford is leading the league in batting, and Cobb is close up, while Gainor is not very far behind. Moriarty is walloping the ball harder than ever, and Delehanty is also there with his big stick. Besides being the hardest hitting team in the circuit, it is the greatest base running club in either league.

With the team pelting the ball harder than ever and the players running the sacks like demons, the twirling staff stronger than ever and luck favoring the team, it will be hard work stopping them. The catching staff could be improved upon, but is not weak by any means.

Jennings has proved himself a resourceful leader. He has been in charge of the team six seasons, during which time he has captured three successive pennants, an American league record. His methods are unique. Jennings never drives his players, but instills a never say die spirit into them which has enabled the Tigers to win out in many games at the very last minute. When he took hold of the team the members were fighting among themselves. The club was disorganized and finished way down in the second division. The following season he perfected harmony to such an extent that the Tigers won the banner. Last year the outfielders were not on speaking terms. Hughie parted with McIntyre and made Cobb and Crawford make up. Once more Jennings scored.

Probably no manager in the major leagues has ripped up his infield as often as Jennings. For a few of the rips he was severely censured by the critics, but later slapped on the back by the same men. When the Tigers won the pennant in 1907 the infield was Rossman, Schaefer, O'Leary and Coughlin. Today not one of 'em is left. Moriarity replaced Coughlin, Delehanty Schaefer and Bush O'Leary. Tom Jones was on first last year. He was slowing up, so Jennings let him go. Another big mistake, said the experts. But Jennings has landed a corking good first sacker in Gainor. The latter is playing a great game at the initial station and batting like a streak.

Take off your hat to Hughie. He is a leader to be admired by every fan in every city for his managerial ability and his never say die spirit.

WOLGAST GREATEST LIGHTWEIGHT, SAYS JEFFRIES.

"Wolgast is the best lightweight in the world," says Jeffries. "He is a fighter pure and simple. He doesn't pretend to be a fancy boxer. There's no doubt about his gameness and hitting qualities, which make a champion. Whenever he meets a challenger over a route string along with him, for he has wonderful stamina and improves as the battle progresses. I think he will whip Moran, who is his most dangerous rival, and I intend to back him, even though I will not be at the ringside. It is possible that Wolgast was afraid to cut loose against K. O. Brown because of his weak left arm, but as that member is strong again I expect him to beat all comers."

Wolgast's next fight is with Frankie Burns, the California lightweight, in San Francisco May 29. The distance is twenty-five rounds. Burns recently knocked out Lew Powell and won on a foul from Hogan, who was in a bad way when the offense was committed. Wolgast is confident that he can stop Burns before the limit is reached.

There is perhaps not another instance on record where a player after being out of the big league for six or seven years has returned and starred as is Jimmy Callahan, the Chicago Americans' left fielder. When Callahan quit the big league some years back it was generally conceded that he had seen his best days, and no one ever dreamed that after six years or more he would be able to come back and prove the star of an outfield that is rather classy. But Callahan has accomplished this and is today playing the best ball of all the members of Comiskey's team.

Cal is still a young man, and there is no reason why he should not be as good a ball player as he ever was. Surely he is a big improvement over some of the youngsters Manager Duffy had slated for outfield positions. Incidentally Callahan is of great assistance to Hugh Duffy. No one knows the game better or is more capable to give advice than Callahan, and he will undoubtedly be Duffy's right hand man.

GEERS EXPECTS BIG YEAR.

Famous Reinsman Will Start Season With Powerful Stable.

Edward F. Geers, the dean of the trotting sport, is looking forward to this season as being one of the banner years of his long career in the sulky. It will be his thirty-first trip down the grand circuit, and from all appearances it may be the most successful campaign the "G. O. M." has ever entered.

During his long service in the light harness sport Mr. Geers has marked nearly sixty horses with records better than 2:10. He is credited with having given records of 2:10 or better to thirty trotters and twenty-four pacers. In Memphis Mr. Geers has fifty-two horses he is pointing for this season's jaunt down the big line, and it means that he will wind up the season by giving several more trotters and pacers fast records.

Mr. Geers likes to drive. Although he has been crippled by numerous accidents, he still enjoys to be in the thick of a grand circuit contest where wheels of one sulky are scraping with wheels of those on either side. Fear is unknown to him, and it takes a mighty severe accident to keep him out of the sulky. His legs and arms have been broken several times, and he has received many other injuries that have twisted him out of shape, but still he keeps on.

Willett Pitching Fine Ball.

Pitcher Edgar Willett of the Detroit Americans is away to a good start, and if fortune can smile on the big Kansan for a full season the American league is likely to see a star of the highest magnitude in its midst. The heretofore hard luck flinger is now twirling some great ball for Hugh Jennings.

RECLAMATION OF SOUTHERN SWAMP LANDS PROBLEM

Special to Telegram.

Chicago, Ill., May 11.—There are more unoccupied swamp lands east of the Rocky Mountains subject to reclamation by the government and by private capital than there are arid lands in the West, and within possibly a year the government may authorize bond issues for reclamation work in the east and south if the influence of the National Irrigation Congress is as far-reaching as it was at the time it worked for the Roosevelt Reclamation Act and the consequent United States Reclamation service. That the Irrigation Congress will be able to forward this movement is not improbable, as this year's sessions of the organization are to be held in Chicago, where scores of the nation's most influential men are interested actively in the work.

The areas east of the Rocky Mountains, which figuratively mark the eastern boundary of the irrigation territories, that the government may reclaim and put at the disposal of the farmer comprise approximately 79,000,000 acres of swamp and overflowed lands. This enormous total is given by C. G. Elliott, chief of drainage investigations for the government, and his statistics include only those lands which may successfully be transformed into profit-producing farms. By States, the government acreage for these lands is given as follows:

	Acres
Alabama	1,479,200
Georgia	2,700,000
Florida	19,800,000
North Carolina	2,748,160
South Carolina	3,122,120

To persuade the Federal Congress to recommend and authorize bond issues for swamp lands reclamation will probably be an important part of the proceedings of the Chicago meeting of the National Irrigation Congress and Chicago business and railway men interested in this phase of the work will lend their efforts towards the success of this movement, which already has been launched and given considerable impetus. With the present congress at Washington it is held that this legislation, which the States whose development and future rests largely upon swamp land reclamation often have sought, could probably be obtained.

Reclaimed swamp lands make the most fertile and valuable farms as the soil, frequently of silt formation, is rich in humus, usually containing in a virgin state the fertility of scores of years. An analysis of representative samples of swamp soils made last year at the University of Ohio resulted in the report that such soil could support 1,000 yields of corn at fifty bushels to the acre without any material soil exhaustion resulting. In addition the swamp areas capable of reclamation are near the eastern and middle western markets and centers of population, which makes their development of immediate rather than of distant importance.

The Nineteenth National Irrigation Congress meets in Chicago December 5 to 9. Speakers having statistics concerning the enomic value of swamp land reclamation will at that time urge the need of drainage legislation by the Federal Congress. During the meeting stronger resolutions than ever before adopted by the congress relative to swamp land reclamation no doubt will be approved, and it is not unlikely that as a result of these resolutions some definite action will be decided upon with the object of furthering the movement at Washington.

PATRIOT SLUGGERS SWATTED CASHION

Mighty Man of Spinners Yielded Eleven Hits and Six Runs to Doyle's Men—Spinners got Seven Hits but Only Three Scores.

Doyle's heavy sluggers proved too much for the mighty Cashion yesterday afternoon and the Greenville pitcher lost his game to Greensboro by a score of 6 to 3. This gave the Patriots five straight games, they having won the last game of the series in Greenville Saturday, the three with Anderson here this week and the one with Spinners yesterday. To use the vernacular of the diamond, this is "going some." This morning finds Greensboro tied with Charlotte for first place, and unless the Hornets get together tomorrow morning will find us occupying the pinnacle alone.

Fisher was on the knoll for the locals yesterday. He was unsteady at first, but by the time he had pitched two or three innings settled down to business and held Greenville batters almost at his mercy. His own errors contributed to a large extent to the Spinners run-getting. Fisher struck out six men and only allowed seven well-distributed hits. The team gave him errorless support, and the fielding of the locals was an outstanding feature of the afternoon.

Cashion was in poor form and was hit by the locals for a total of 15 bases. The Greenville team gave him fair support, but a comparison of the fielding of the locals to that of the Spinners is considerably to the disadvantage of the latter. Cashion and Ochs pulled off a very neat double play in the seventh, when the pitcher caught Doak's bunt and got Bentley playing off second.

Rickard was the star batter of the day, one of his two hits being for three sacks and by far the prettiest hit made at the park this week. Bentley also came in for a double and a single. Corwin, Fisher and Fuller lined out two singles, while Rabbit Doyle put in his usual two-bagger.

NO GAME PLAYED AT ANDERSON---DOUBLE HEADER SATURDAY

Anderson, S. C., May 11.—Train No. 37 bringing the locals from Greensboro here to play Winston this afternoon was late and the players did not arrive in time to play. It is understood that a double-header will be called for Saturday.

DIAMOND DUST

Baseball today.

Game commences at 4:30.

Cashion is no longer invincible.

What's the use of losing a single game to Greenville?

For one, we favor making it six victories for the Patriots this week.

Listen for Charlotte's groan.

We had hoped to extract the Hornets' sting ourselves, but Spartanburg beat us to it.

Stewart's work is always a delight and he has already found favor with the fans.

Corwin continues to keep up that high batting average.

Who stole Lave Cross's rabbit?

There was no game at Anderson yesterday on account of the teams missing a train connection.

Somebody said Jim Kelly was afraid to go back to Anderson after losing three straight games here.

If Rickard don't quit committing grand larceny between that first and second sack, Judge Eure will get him.

CANDIDATES FILE EXPENSE ACCOUNT WITH CITY CLERK

The candidates in the recent primary and election have all filed their expense account with City Clerk Michaux as provided under a section of the new charter. The statements of each candidate is itemized and one can see at a glance for what purpose the candidates or their friends spent money in furthering their candidacy. A glance over the statements shows that by far the larger part of the expense of each of the candidates was for advertising in the papers. The entrance fee of $5 is also included in the statement. Other ways in which money was spent was for cards, circulars, carriage hire, copying registration books, having the list checked, cigars and postage. Some of the candidates did not spend money other than for their announcements, entrance fee and a few cards, while others had lists of the voters copied from the registration books and sent out many personal letters.

The total amount spent, according to the sworn statements, was only $861.54, the entrance fees being included. Mayor Murphy led the list, his expense account aggregating $199.60. Commissioner Brown came second with an expense account of $191.63. Commissioner Foushee's total bill was $51.70. Judge Eure came off rather lightly, his total, not including the entrance fee, being $3.15.

The aggregate amount spent by each, as per statements filed, follows: N. L. Eure $3.15, John R. Cutchin $86.30, B. H. Merrimon $31.50, J. G. Foushee, Jr., $51.70, C. W. Curry $26, J. W. Merritt $29, J. Ed Albright $51.80, E. J. Stafford $48.50, T. J. Murphy $199.60. W. T. Sergeant $25, S. H. Boyd $143.86, E. A. Brown $191.63.
